

Student to Student: Tell it like it is (Videos about Studying in the U.S.)

Project Title	Student to Student: Tell it like it is (Videos about Studying in the U.S.)
Project Summary	Create short videos about study in the U.S. to better inform Libyan students and their parents about what it is like to study on an American campus.
Country	Libya
Agency	Department of State
DoS Office	N/A
Post	TRIPOLI
Section	PAS
Number of Interns	1

Project Description

Libyan students are keen to study in the U.S. but, generally, new to the international student market. We seek an American intern who can make short videos about study in the U.S. from the admission process, to selecting the school, to arriving at the school, social life, extracurricular activities, volunteering, working, student leadership, athletics, academics, what is major?, internship, honor codes, study groups, writing papers, making presentations, staying safe, etc. Anything and everything about being a student at an American university. We seek an intern who can develop creative, engaging videos which will be featured on the U.S. Embassy Libya Facebook page.

Desired Skills Interests

Additional Information

The U.S. Embassy evacuated in 2014 due to a worsening security environment, and is now located in Tunisia. We are a "virtual" team in the Public Affairs section, with colleagues in Libya, Tunisia, and the United States.

Language Requirements

None